

Rachel Jackelen

I got my MSW in 2008 and spent several years working in the fields of mental health and community service before taking 3 years off to be a stay-at-home mom to my son. I started with AB&B in June 2017, a few months before the birth of baby boy #2, and have loved the opportunity to work with other parents and families. I am enjoying life in the working world, and look forward to someday having spare time to do some camping and running.
