

Amanda Srock-Anderson

I obtained my Bachelor of Science in Social Work and Bachelor of Arts (Spanish) degrees in 2006 from Minnesota State University, Mankato. I started a career in vocational rehabilitation and worked as a case manager (DCM and QRC) for over 15 years. I have been a Certified Disability Management Specialist since 2010. I speak fluent Spanish, and have worked with people of Latino and Hispanic cultures from Mexico, and Central/South America. I look forward to helping families navigate CDCS services. I find joy in spending time with my husband, kids, extended family, friends, practicing daily gratitude and yoga. I strive to 'raise good humans', and be kind in all that I do.
